

I would like to invite you to the next Louisiana Association of College Composition (LACC) Conference to be held on the campus of the University of Louisiana at Lafayette, February 24-26, 2005. This year's theme, "How, Then, Shall We Teach? The Future of Composition Instruction in Louisiana" will focus on the ways in which the teaching of writing is in flux in the state as we face a new administration, tight budgets, war in other countries, the possibility of a renewed draft, and the many other elements of life here.

Following an opening reception Feb. 24, 2005 (hors d'oeuvres and open bar with beer and wine), we have two great keynote events. Dr. E. Joseph Savoie, Commissioner of Higher Education for Louisiana and Dr. Kathleen Blake Yancey, Immediate Past Chair of CCCC will be present; they are both engaging and dynamic speakers.

Lafayette is a wonderful place to visit; I hope you can make it! If you have any questions for me, you may feel free to contact me at lacc2005@louisiana.edu or at (337) 482-6915; please submit a proposal to the conference, or simply enjoy visiting your colleagues in college composition from across the Pelican State.

*Dr. Keith Dorwick
The Department of English, UL Lafayette
P.O. Box 44691
Lafayette, LA 70504-4691*

lacc2005@louisiana.edu

Dr. Keith Dorwick, Conference Chair
The Department of English
The University of Louisiana at Lafayette
P.O. Box 44691
Lafayette, LA 70504-4691
LACC2005@louisiana.edu
<http://www.uclouisiana.edu/~ksd4350/lacc2005/>

LACC 2005

The Future of Composition Instruction in Louisiana

THE UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA
AT LAFAYETTE,
FEBRUARY 24-26, 2005

Keynote Speakers, LACC 2005:

Dr. E. Joseph Savoie,
Commissioner of Higher Education for Louisiana

Dr. Kathleen Blake Yancey,
Immediate Past Chair, Conference
of College Composition and Communication (CCCC)

CALL FOR PAPERS

The chair of the 2005 LACC conference, "How, Then, Shall We Teach? The Future of Composition Instruction in Louisiana," invites proposals for 20 minute individual presentations and 3 or 4 member panels in the following areas:

- The present and future state of composition instruction in Louisiana
- Training and mentoring our present and future colleagues
- Composition research and/or pedagogy
- Writing program administration
- Computer-assisted writing
- Technical writing
- Elementary, middle, and secondary education writing pedagogy
- Creative writing, especially creative non-fiction and the essay
- Other issues that encourage excellence in the teaching of writing

We are especially interested in proposals that reflect on the changing shape of composition in Louisiana as we react to the changes in our society.

Submit one-page proposals by December 10, 2004 to the conference chair by U.S. mail, or to lacc2005@louisiana.edu; attachments in Word format preferred.

Speakers MUST pay the conference fee in order to present.

REGISTRATION FORM

(ADDRESS ON REVERSE SIDE):

Name: _____

Institution: _____

Address: _____

City: _____

State: _____

Zip Code: _____

E-mail Address: _____

Conference Registration Fee Enclosed (includes year long membership in LACC and subscription to the Journal of College Writing). Checks should be made payable to LACC:

Fulltime Faculty Rate: $80.00

Student/Adjunct Rate: $40.00

I have accessibility needs; please contact me

I have enclosed a check for the optional luncheon at À La Carte with E. Joseph Savoie on Feb. 26, 2005 payable to Keith Dorwick for $25.00 which will cover all my lunch expenses

Welcome to Lafayette, the heart of Acadiana! Make your conference hotel reservations at one of the two LaQuinta's in Lafayette at a special conference rate:

La Quinta Inn and Suites Lafayette
1015 West Pinhook Road
Lafayette, Louisiana 70503
Phone: (337) 291-1088
Fax: (337) 291-1088

Conference Rate: $72.99 plus tax:
Reservation deadline January 24, 2005.

La Quinta Inn Lafayette
2100 NE Evangeline Thruway
Lafayette, Louisiana 70501
Phone: (337) 233-5610
Fax: (337) 235-2104

Conference Rate: $50.00 plus tax
Reservation deadline February 19, 2005.

Availability: Conference rate available Thursday, February 24, 2005 through the morning of Sunday, February 28, 2005

You must mention you are attending the LACC conference!

Dining Opportunities in Lafayette include:

À La Carte
Posado's
Lafayette's
Café Vermilionville
Don's Seafood
Café des Amis, Breaux Bridge